

AS Health Science

At the completion of this degree program, students will be able to do the following:

1. Demonstrate the ability to apply the scientific method.
2. Evaluate the effects of environmental, nutritional, and pharmacological factors on the human body.
3. Demonstrate the ability to apply technology in the performance of scientific lab exercises.